

Logging into DAD 2.0

The login process for the DAD 2.0 application now includes a requirement of selecting the advocacy group and a more secure password.

The screenshot shows a login form titled "NDRN Log In". It features a purple header bar with the title. Below the header, there are three input fields: "Advocacy Group" (a dropdown menu showing "Any P&A/CAP USA (For Mock Training)"), "User Name" (a text box), and "Password" (a text box). A "Log In" button is located at the bottom center of the form.

The advocacy group selection will be stored on the computer after a successful login.

A successful login will open the Control Panel window which will remain open and maintain your security credentials while using the system.

The screenshot shows the "DAD Control Panel" window. It has a purple header bar with the title. Below the header, the text "Matt Hayden Logged in at 3:46 PM" is displayed. Underneath, there are four underlined links: "Open Desktop", "Open Report Generator", "Open Administration", and "User Preferences". At the bottom, there is a "Logout" link.

The Control Panel has been upgraded to reflect the correct time for the agency time zone as selected in the Administration. TimeKeeper has been removed as a Control Panel option as it has been integrated into the Desktop, which is the location of the service/project management of the application.
